We are honored to announce that we have been recognized by Latin Lawyer and The Vance Center in Pro Bono Leading Lights 2024. The survey highlights law firms that have made significant contributions to fostering a pro bono culture in Latin America.

The selection criteria consider factors such as our pro bono infrastructure, the impact of the cases we handle, and recognition of our lawyers' work. To be among those recognized in this year's edition of Leading Lights fills us with pride and inspires us to continue transforming lives through pro bono work and volunteer initiatives.

Through BMA InspirAção, our pro bono and volunteer program, we have the opportunity to strengthen relationships and contribute to society alongside various third sector organizations, impacting areas such as culture, health, and education. In 2023, our lawyers dedicated 3,200 hours to pro bono work and over 180 team members engaged directly in providing legal support to our partner organizations.

Congratulations to everyone who is part of this transformative effort. We are committed to making a difference!
