BMA's Intellectual Property practice is recognized by WRT1000 2023 and our specialists are highlighted for their work over the year!

WRT1000 is a leading guide to professionals and firms that have a significant role in developing and implementing trademark strategies in global and local markets, and in protecting and enforcing trademark rights. To arrive at the results, WTR conducts extensive qualitative research with peers and clients, along with a detailed analysis of the level work done by firms and their market presence.

Once again, Antonella Carminatti, Pedro Barroso and Pedro Tavares are highlighted in the guide.

"BMA prides itself on tailoring high quality and client specific services to each one of its local and multinational patrons. Some of the more notable of these include Under Armour, Sega Corporation and Ralph Lauren. The highly qualified Antonella Carminatti and Pedro Barroso take charge in these matters.", says the guide.

"Antonella is my go to partner in Brazil. She is responsive, thinks outside the box and offers terrific value...On top of it all, Antonella is exceptionally pleasant to work with, making all of our work together go smoothly. I highly recommend her", shares a client interviewed by WTR.

"Customers also offer praise for associate Pedro Tavares: In addition to being extremely responsive, Pedro is highly knowledgeable about Brazilian trademark law and consistently provides practical guidance in complex prosecution matters. Pedro is adept at explaining specific issues to Brazilian practice for an audience unfamiliar with local rules and regulations, making it feel like even foreign applicants have home field advantage in Brazil.", published the guide.

Congratulations to our whole IP team for their work!
