Construction Projects

From government contracts, privatization initiatives and private sector contracts to the prevention and resolution of disputes, our multidisciplinary team is equipped to handle the entire life cycle of large-scale projects

Our Construction Projects group brings together practitioners with complementary specializations and expertise to provide seamless legal services for public and private sector construction works and the mechanisms used to finance them. We support our clients with a multidisciplinary vision that only a full service law can provide, in both advisory and contentious matters.

Our experience in drafting and negotiating complex contracts, along with our expertise in dispute prevention and resolution, means that we can bring unique insights to each project, taking into account the intricacies of the sector and the project's specific characteristics.

From financing and environmental licensing to training sessions, contract management, dispute boards, and litigation before the courts and arbitral tribunals, our team is ready to support clients throughout their project's life cycle.

In addition to our expertise in real estate, infrastructure and energy projects, public-private partnerships and private investments, we help national and international companies navigate the complexities of the Brazilian tax system, address labor and employment issues, and ensure compliance and integrity matters, so clients can count on us for all the legal needs generated by construction projects.
