Insurance

We stand out for our multidisciplinary team, with its keen understanding of the insurance market

Our Insurance practice brings together the depth and breadth of our team's experience in corporate transactions – where BMA is a market leader – and the understanding gained from working closely with clients from the insurance sector over the years. The union of these skills and knowledge allows us to offer exceptional service both to insurers and other companies in the insurance sector, and to businesses that need to contract insurance and manage claims. Drawing on the experience gained from advising some of the biggest players in the sector and from our role in high-value, complex transactions, our multidisciplinary team assists in meeting the challenges of the insurance market, in the property, life and health segments.

Transactions and Contracts. Broad experience in a wide range of corporate transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, and transactions involving insurance contract portfolios in various segments; complete legal support in operational and commercial agreements between insurers and their partner entities (including affinity schemes and bancassurance); advice to businesses in different sectors on contracting insurance and managing policies and claims.

Regulatory. Specialized assistance in regulatory matters affecting insurers, reinsurers, health plan operators, benefits administrators and insurance brokers, including interactions with regulatory authorities and administrative proceedings, both in connection with corporate transactions and in advisory work such as legal memorandums and opinions and support in compliance with sector regulations.

Tax. Extensive experience in taxation in the insurance sector, with expertise in tax disputes and a successful track record in strategic tax litigation in the sector, both before the courts and at the administrative level.

Large claims and crisis management. Support for businesses in various sectors in large insurance claims and managing crisis situations following accidents.

Litigation. Complete support in lawsuits, arbitrations and mediation procedures; assistance in conflict prevention and in complex negotiations involving large claims.

With its thorough knowledge of the sector's particularities and regulation, our team keeps a close watch on changes in the law and innovations in the insurance market that can affect our clients.

We count some of the largest players in the insurance industry among our clients, and our experience comes from important transactions in the sector. We have also helped clients manage major accidents in Brazil.
